

June, 2004

Doh

Working on the website. Have uploaded pictures to my photo album and travelogue. Have additionally loaded a mostly complete description of my trip to Montana and Yellowstone with some links, etc. Have unfortunately found that a product I created with as little influence from Microsoft as I thought possible renders more geometrically correctly in Internet Explorer than in a "Mozilla" browser. Life's a rant.

Scary Sherry

Scary Sherry is wine made in Morocco shipped across the Straits of the Gipper's Halter to Spain and then exported to the States to be sold at professional wrestling venues.

All Too Connected

I just had to authorize a new Mastercard. Long story short...somebody's e-commerce database was potentially breached. That will have been the second time this has happened to me. Anyhow, I authorized it by telephone and it was validated in the online systems less than two minutes later when I changed one of my autopay bills to the new card! No matter how fast we fall, when it comes to money, we are quickly reerected.

Pics and Tricks

I have posted my trip reports from 2004 to date. The Montana/Yellowstone report is the most extensive. I do have some info and pics for trips to Vermont and Pensacola, FL., earlier in the year. Link to vacations 2004 to date.

Road Trip

Yesterday I completed a 13 day 3300 mile motorcycle camping road trip. It was great...I only got rained on once for 20 miles. I did 7 state parks from Pennsylvania to New York to Vermont to Maine to Massachusetts. Details and pics to follow.